Torrance Juniors Attend Marina District Conclave

Torrance Junior Woman's Club was well represented at the January District Conference of Marina District, CFWC, Junior Membership, at which Seniors and mothers were honored. The meeting was held on Monday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Robert Dreizler presiding and the Pacific Palisades Junior Woman's Club serving as hostesses. This was the largest conference of the year with a total of 269 members and guests present.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Juniors themselves, consisting of the Vogue Sewing Contest, at which members modeled ensembles made by themselves from Vogue patterns, the Penny Art display, the presentation of the Americanism essay contest winner and the Teen Age Miss contest winner.

Entering the Vogue contest from Torrance Juniors was Mrs. Lee Clotworthy wearing a versatile black Spring suit made from imported wool crepe with a striking white satin blouse to make the outfit suitable for dinner wear. Representing Torrance in the Teen Age Miss contest was Miss Carol Johnson, a charming young lady attending Torrance High School. Miss Jean Leavitt was the entrant from Torrance in the Americanism essay contest and her essay took second place in the District competition.

Torrance Juniors also had a display of the art work of several Juniors and a painting entered by Mrs. Edward D. Aiken was selected by the judges to represent Marina District in state competition in the field of art.

Junior members attending were Mmes. Kenneth Boulter, president; D. E. Moore, district treasurer; James K. Lees, district parliamentarian; John

M. Stokely, district fine arts chairman; W. H. Gardner, Richard Dorothy, Willard Irwin, Don Carlson, Clifford Trezise, Don T. McCalman, Jean Montange, Robert West, Lee Clotworthy, and Edward Aiken.

Others present were Mmes. John Thuss, president of the Woman's Club; R. E. Shaw, coordinator; Paul Spring and Richard Keys, mothers of juniors.
